Note to Parents from Creators:
These stories are designed to empower children by having them solve problems in a fun and interactive way. As on the Blue's Clues television show, there are many different games throughout this book. These activities help children learn specific skills, such as reading, math, and problem solving. When Steve asks a question, pause for a moment and let your child discover his or her own answers. Given enough time and repetition, children will learn to master the concepts and feel good about themselves. Happy reading!

Blue's Big Birthday

Simon Spotlight/Nick Jr.

It's Blue's birthday! Thank you so much for coming early to the party.
We could sure use your help getting everything ready. Will you help us?

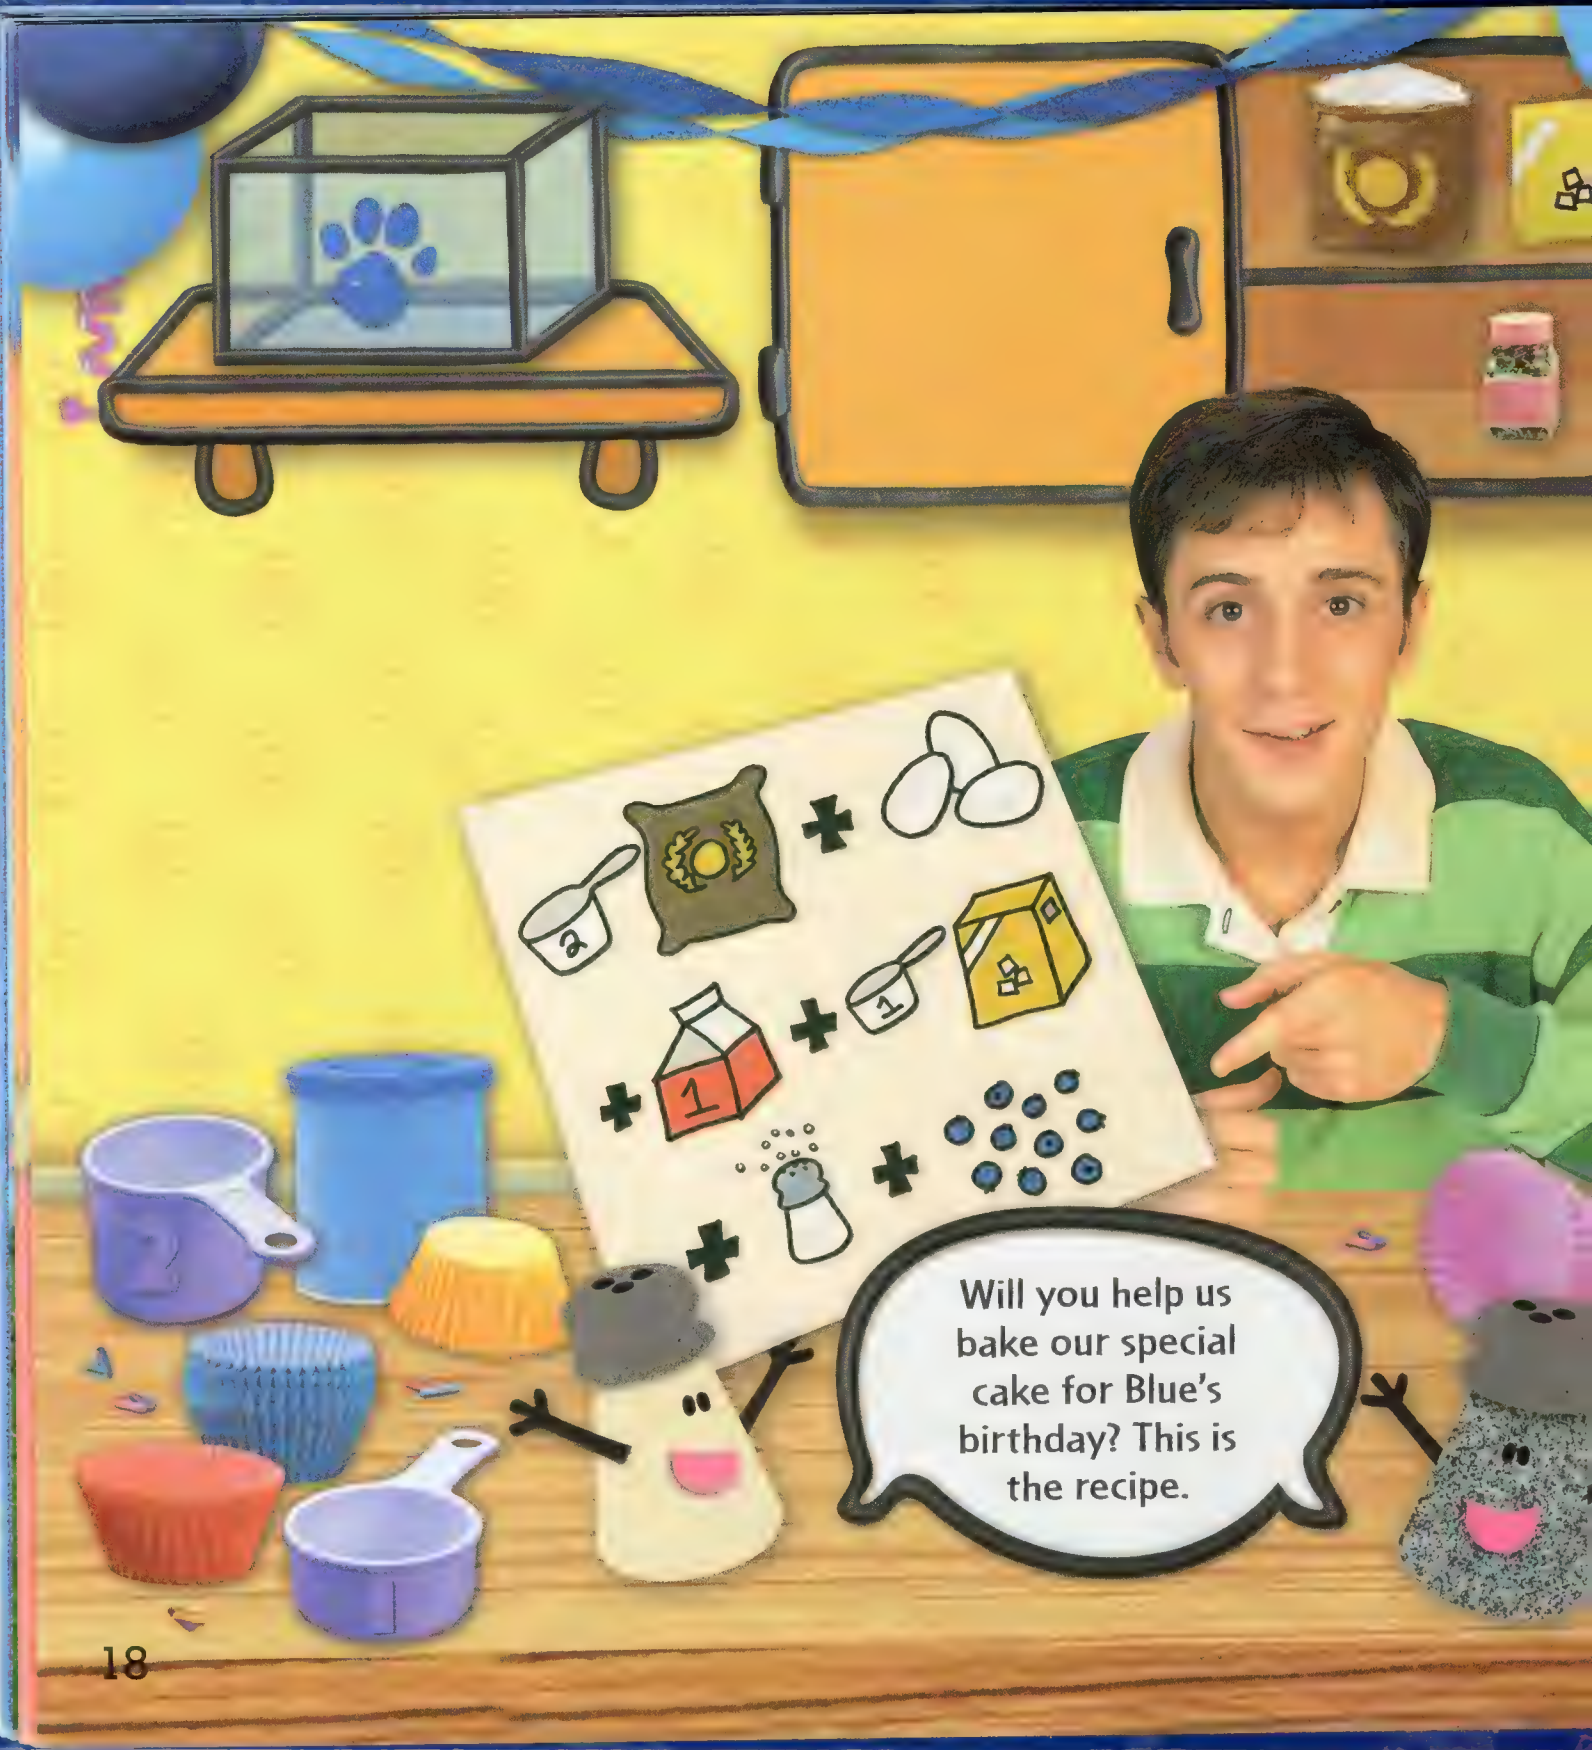
Blue, what do you really, really want for your birthday?

Oh! Blue's Clues! We are going to play Blue's Clues! Do you know how to play? Great! Blue's pawprints will be on three clues and the clues will tell us what she really wants for her birthday!

Now we need to clean up this pawprint . . . but how? Will you blow the pawprint away and then turn the page really fast? Ready? One, two, three, GO!

The pawprint is gone! Good job! Now let's find Blue's clues–keep your eyes out!

Our first clue! And it's the color—do you know what color this is?
Green! We need to write this clue down in our handy-dandy notebook!

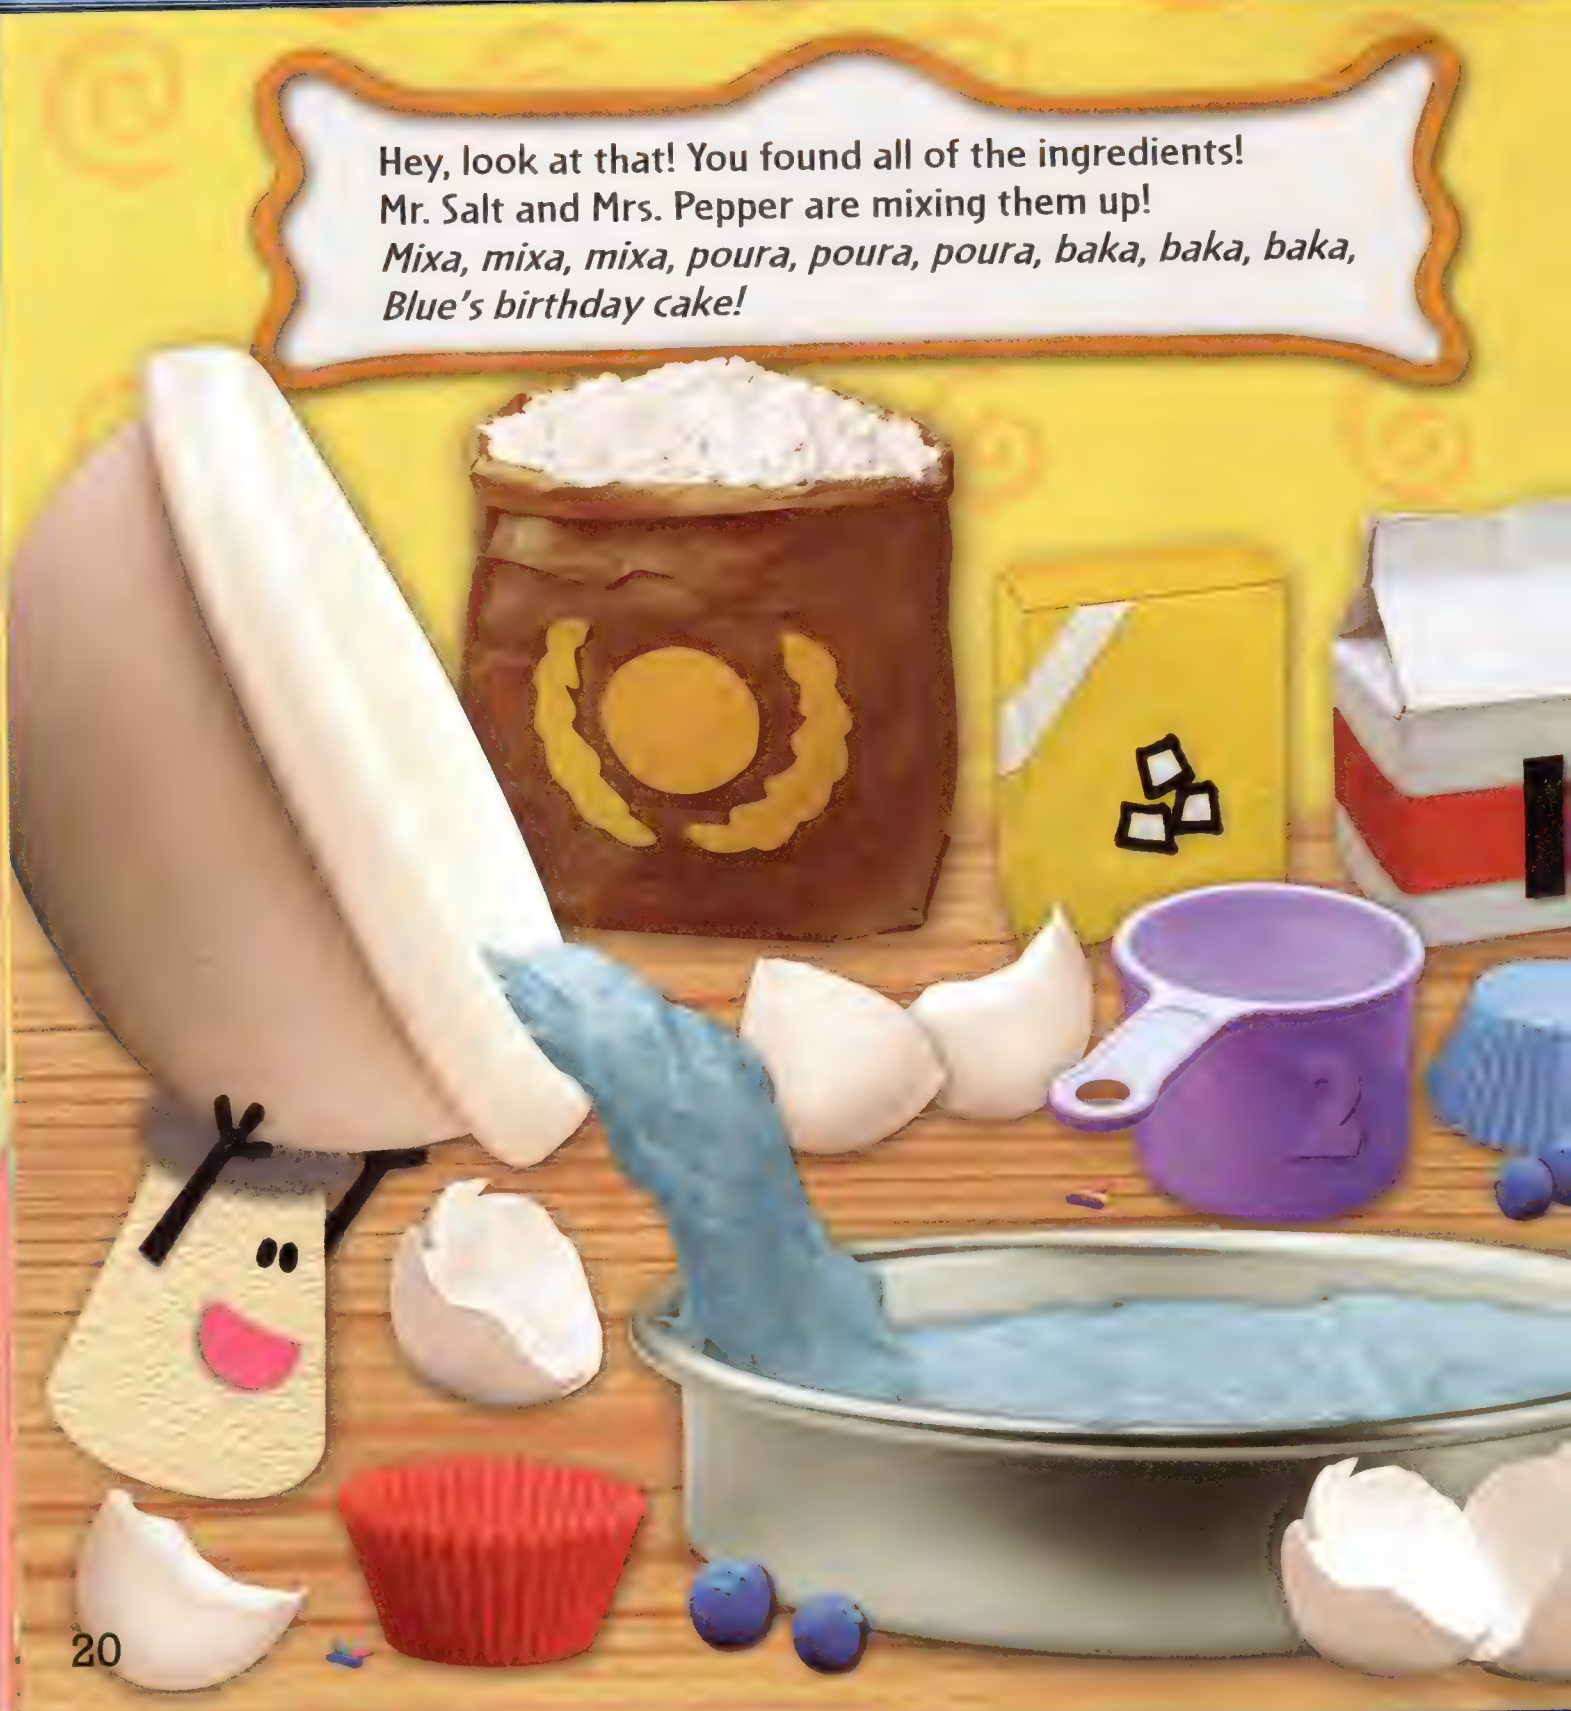


Will you help us bake our special cake for Blue's birthday? This is the recipe.

How many blueberries do we need? How many eggs?

How much milk do we need?

Do you want to help? Look around the kitchen and try to find all of the things we need for Blue's special cake.



Hey, look at that! You found all of the ingredients!
Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper are mixing them up!
Mixa, mixa, mixa, poura, poura, poura, baka, baka, baka, Blue's birthday cake!

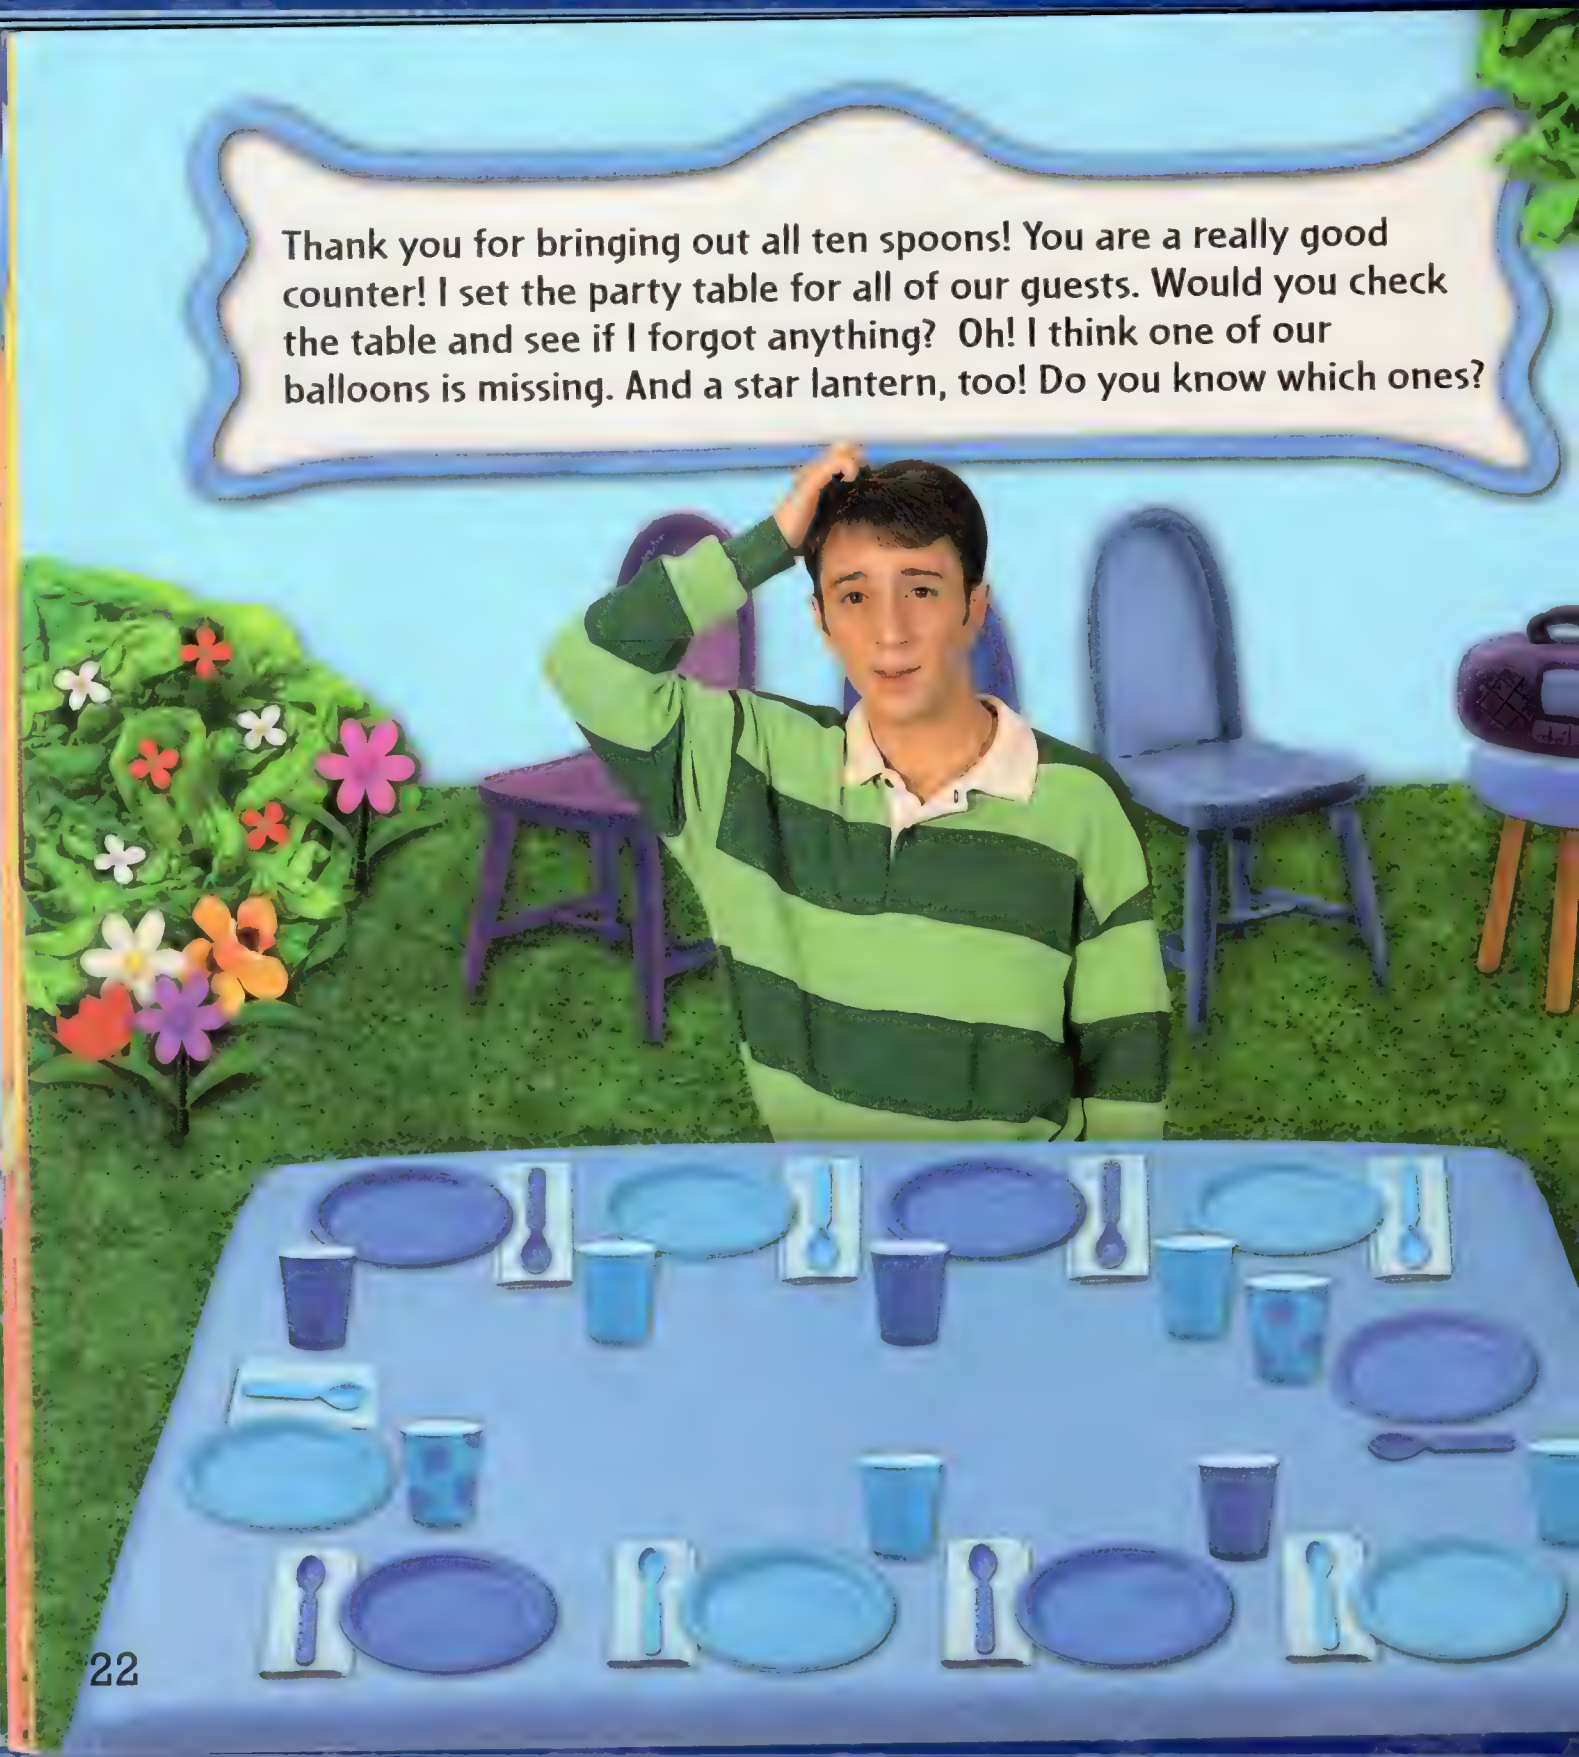
We'll check on Blue's birthday cake later. Did you find our second clue? Me, too! I put it in my handy-dandy notebook already! Let's set the party table now, okay? We'll need ten of everything since there will be ten of us at the party. Will you help me count ten spoons and bring them with you outside? You will? Thanks!

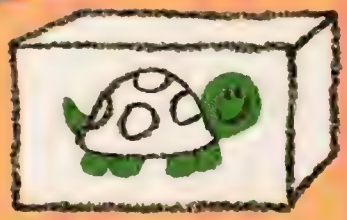


Thank you for bringing out all ten spoons! You are a really good counter! I set the party table for all of our guests. Would you check the table and see if I forgot anything? Oh! I think one of our balloons is missing. And a star lantern, too! Do you know which ones?

You were really good at finding those missing things. We put some more birthday decorations around too. Do you see what we've added? Oh! We found our third clue! A shell! You know what that means: We are ready for our . . . thinking chair! Let's go!

Do you remember what our three clues were? The color green, a fish tank, and a shell. So, what could Blue want for her birthday that is the color green, can be in a fish tank, and lives in a shell?

Blue wants a turtle for her birthday! That's the answer to Blue's Clues, because . . . most turtles are the color green . . . and can be in a fish tank . . . and live in a shell! We just figured out Blue's Clues!



Dingdong. That's the doorbell! The rest of our party guests must be here! Let's go have Blue's birthday party!

I'm so excited! I just love birthdays! Do you know all of Blue's friends who came to the party? Can you guess which friend gave Blue which present? Did you see the special birthday cake we helped Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper make?

Thank you so much for coming and helping with the party. You were great!

Children are fascinated by night and the changes it brings to their world. In this book, which is based on the special Blue's Clues episode, preschoolers will explo the sights and sounds of nighttime and participate in familiar bedtime rituals. The games will challenge readers' visual perception skills while introducing them to t concept of light and dark, nocturnal animals, and constellations.

Hi! You're here for our pajama party! Have you ever been here this late? Well, we're just about to play Blue's Clues to figure out what Blue wants to do tonight.

We're also going to do some exploring. Will you explore with us? Cool! Keep an eye out for those clues–and my slippers, too. Do you see my fuzzy bunny slippers anywhere?

Paprika needs her teddy bear and he pacifier, but we can find them!

This peach is fuzzy, but it's not a teddy bear.
It's pretty dark in here. Got your night eyes ready? Do you see Paprika's pacifier and her teddy bear?

Thanks to you, Paprika is sound asleep.
What a re

Check this out!
Nice job. Do you see any clues yet? Hey, I hear voices coming from outside. Do you see who is calling?

Hi, Shovel and Pail. What are you doing?
We're playing nighttime flash-and-fi
We can hear some animal sounds—hoots, chirps . . .

And squeaks, too!
Some animals must be awake at night.
Can you see which animals are awake?

Good job finding those animals. There's an owl, a cricket, a bat, and a raccoon. Hey, they need our help. Can you help the animals find what they're looking for?
My hands are dirty! Is there a puddle where I can wash up?

I'm tired. Do you see a tree branch I can rest on?
Clue, clue. I mean, hoo, hoo.
Can you help me find my friend? She's a cricket too.
It's getting darker. We'd better get back inside.

Whoa, what's going on in here?
We're trying to get our pajamas on, but it's too dark. Where's my hat and slippers?
This isn't mine! Where's my pajama top?

It's pajama time! We'd better help. Can you pick out the clothes that belong to Tickety Tock, Slippery Soap, and Blue?

Thanks for helping us find our pajamas. Can you help me find something else? I'm looking for the Big Dipper. It's a group of stars that looks like a big soupspoon.

Did you see the Big Dipper? You did? Did you find all three clues too? It's time to go to the thinking chair!

Now let's think. Our clues are a lamp, a book, and a sleeping bag. So what does Blue want to do tonight? Hmm . . . we can get into our sleeping bags. And turn on the lamp—that would give us light. But what will we do with a book?

Read a book? Yeah, Blue wants to get into her sleeping bag and read a book by the light of the lamp! That's what she wants to do at our pajama party! We just figured out Blue's Clues!

Come on, let's all get into our sleeping bags and read a book. Hey, do you see Good Night Bird on the shelf? It's one of Blue's favorite bedtime stories.

What a perfect idea for our pajama party! Now if I can just find Horace, my stuffed anteater. Do you see Horace anywhere?

That was a great story. Hey, it looks like everyone is asleep. Thanks again for your help and for coming to our pajama party. Good night!

A Blue's Clues Holiday

by Angela C. Santomero

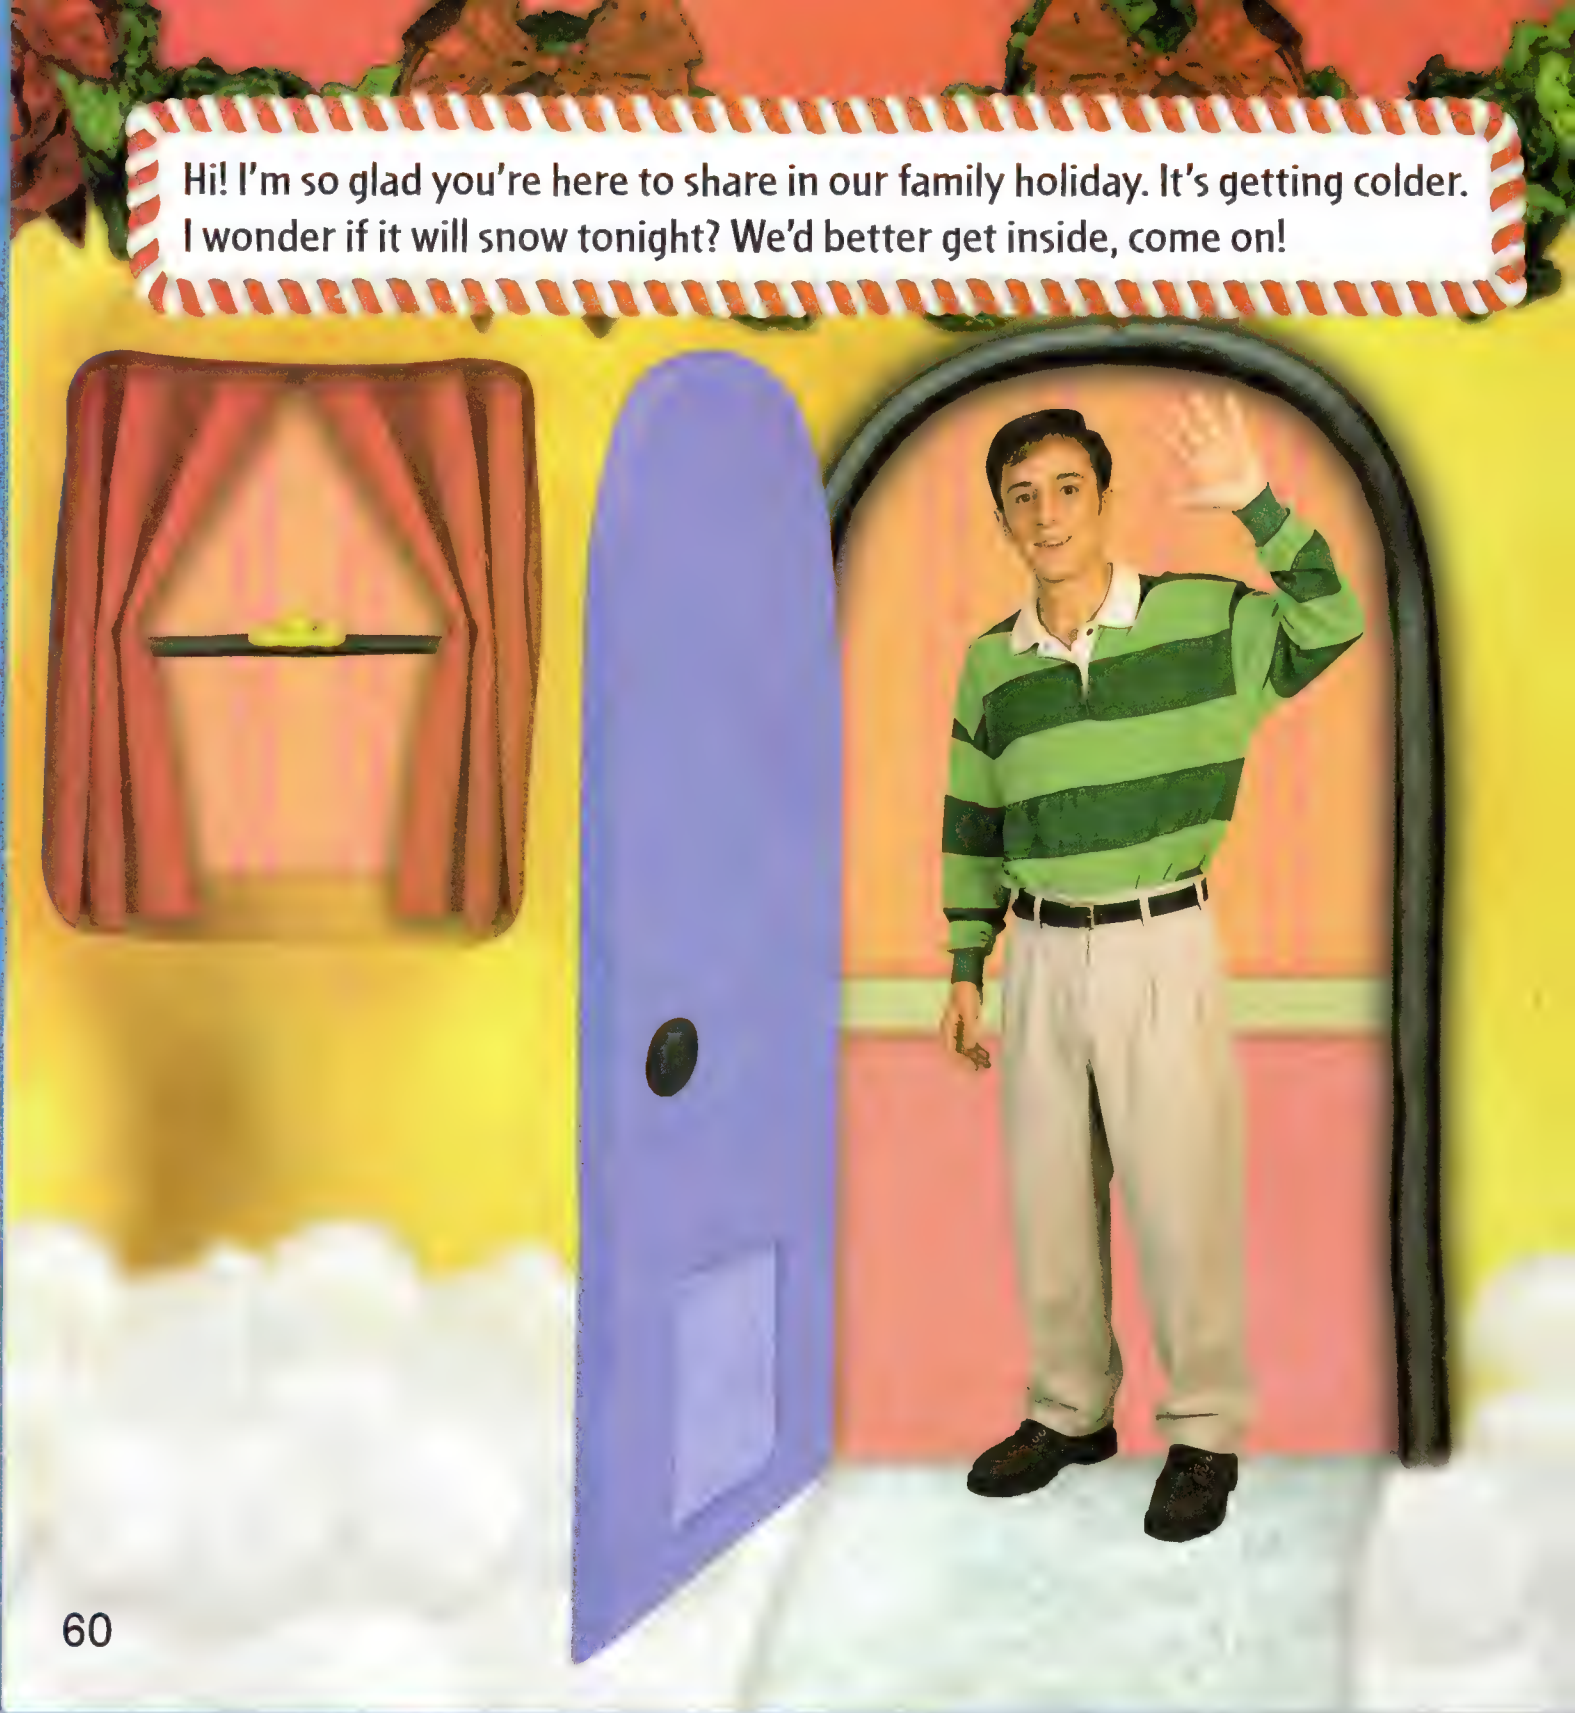
Illustrated by Yo-Lynn Hagood

Simon Spotlight/Nick Jr.



Hi! I'm so glad you're here to share in our family holiday. It's getting colder. I wonder if it will snow tonight? We'd better get inside, come on!

Blue! Look who's here to share in our family traditions! Everyone is making something to add to our holiday decorations. Will you help us finish our decorations? You will? Great.

Blue, we're ready for your holiday decorations! Do you know what Blue made to hang in our living room?

Paper chains! Blue makes her paper chains every year to hang around the house. Can you help her? We just need to cut some construction paper into long strips, then we use some glue to connect the strips into a circle.

Yum! Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper always bake the most yummy holiday cookies! Do you know what shape the cookies are?

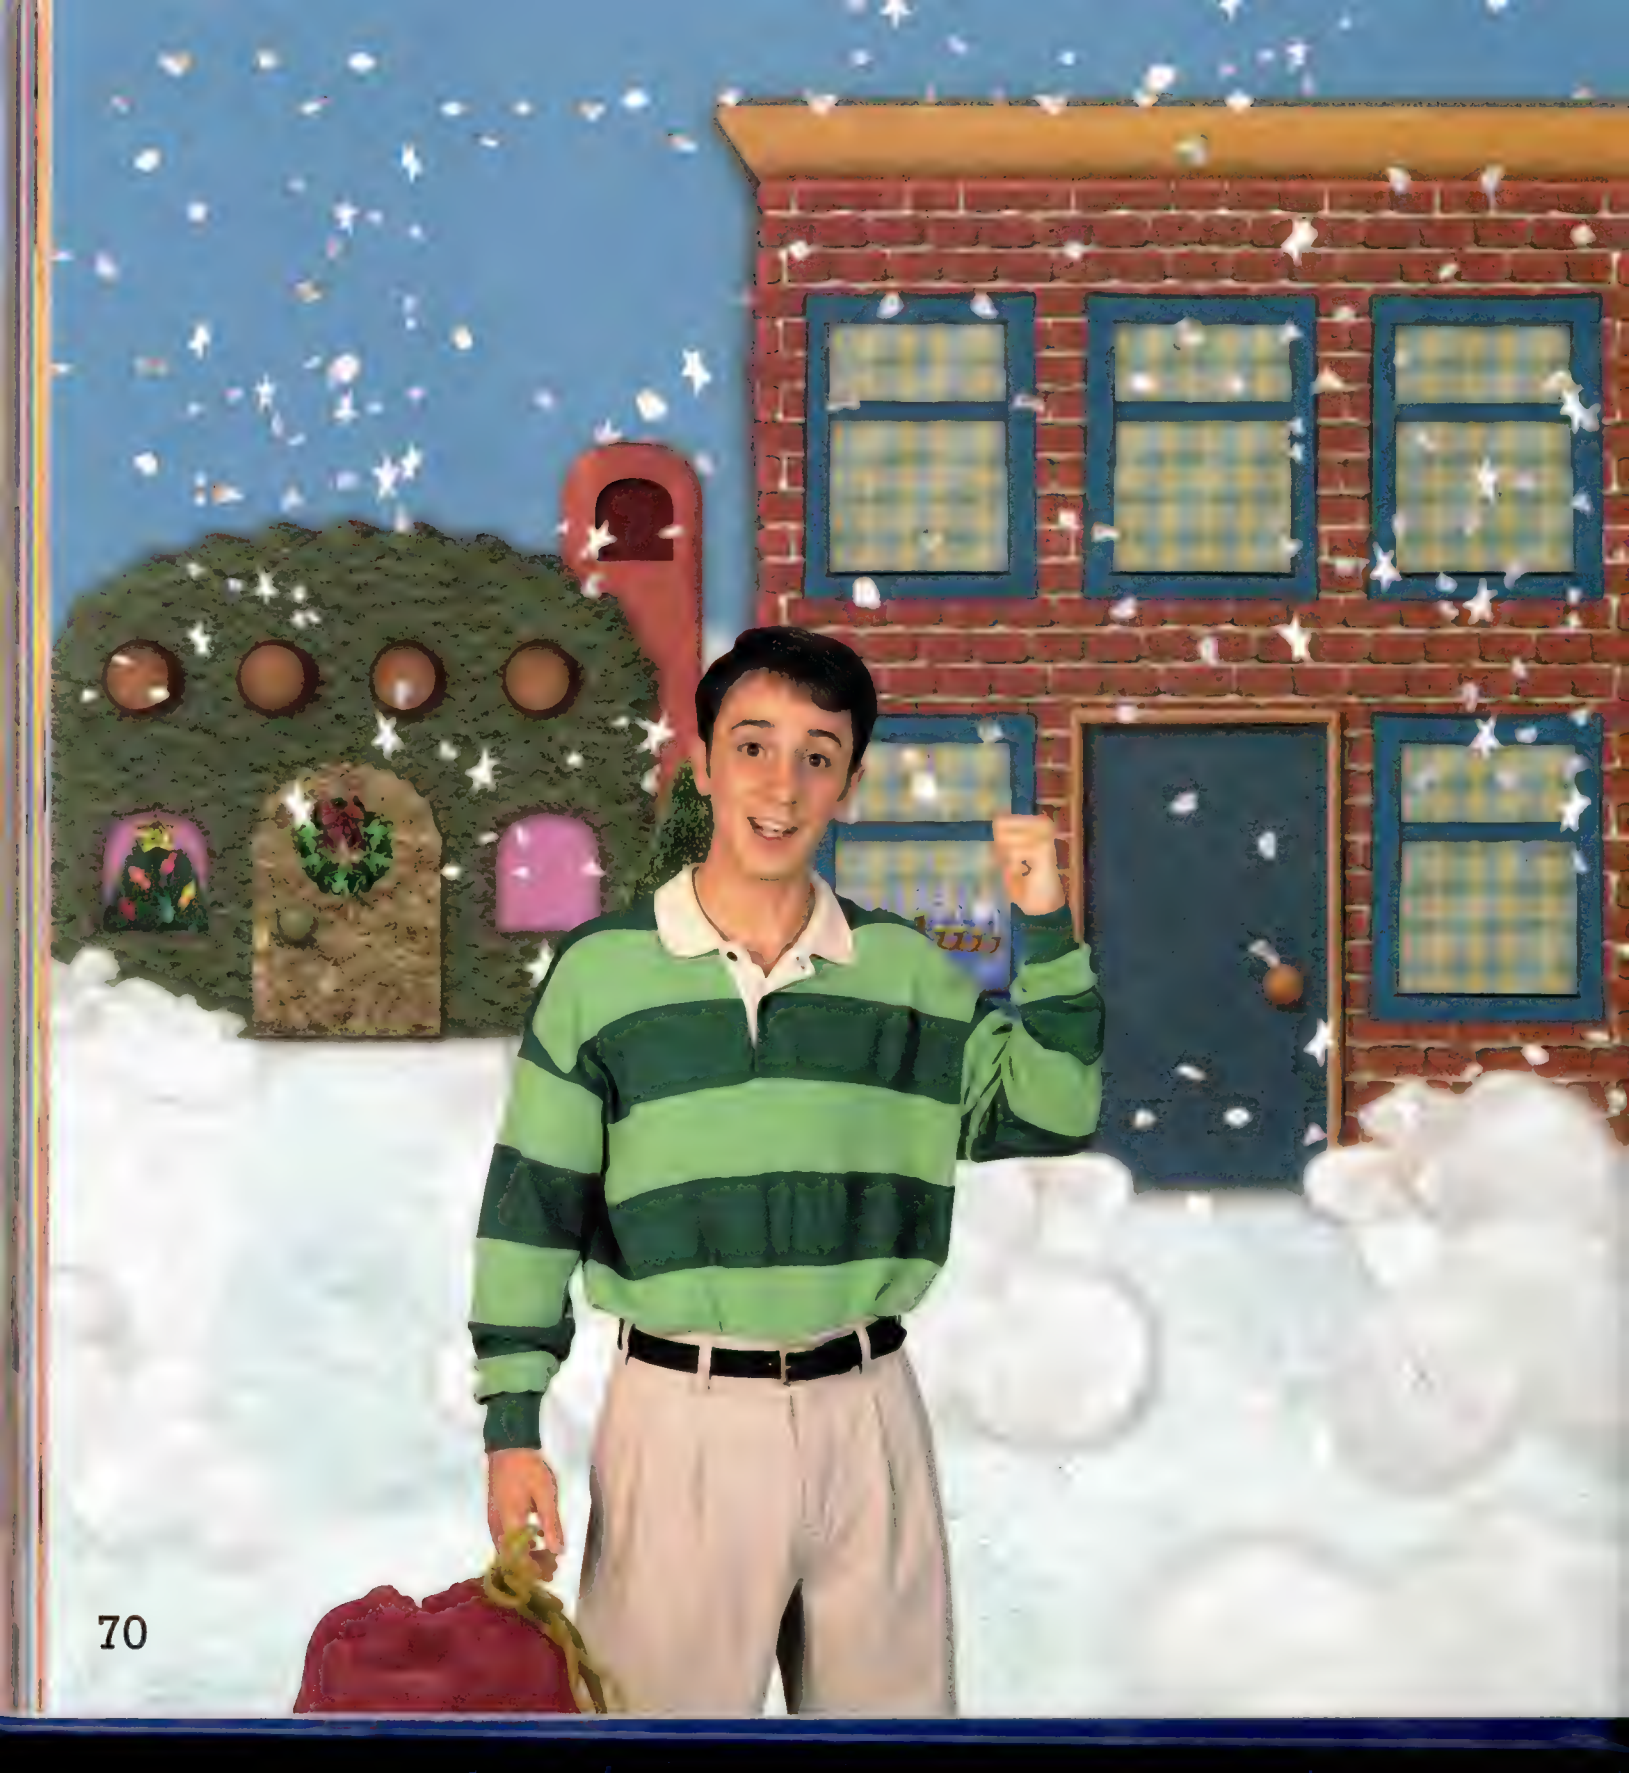
Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper's snowball cookies are easy to make. Maybe you can make some for your family too. Hey, let's see what Shovel and Pail are up to!

Shovel and Pail are making paper snowflakes to decorate our living room. Aren't they pretty?

Hey, maybe you want to try to make paper snowflakes too!

Look at Slippery! He's making something festive out of bubbles to put in our room. What did he make? Can you tell?

Hey, Tickety! Did you make something too? What did Tickety make this year?



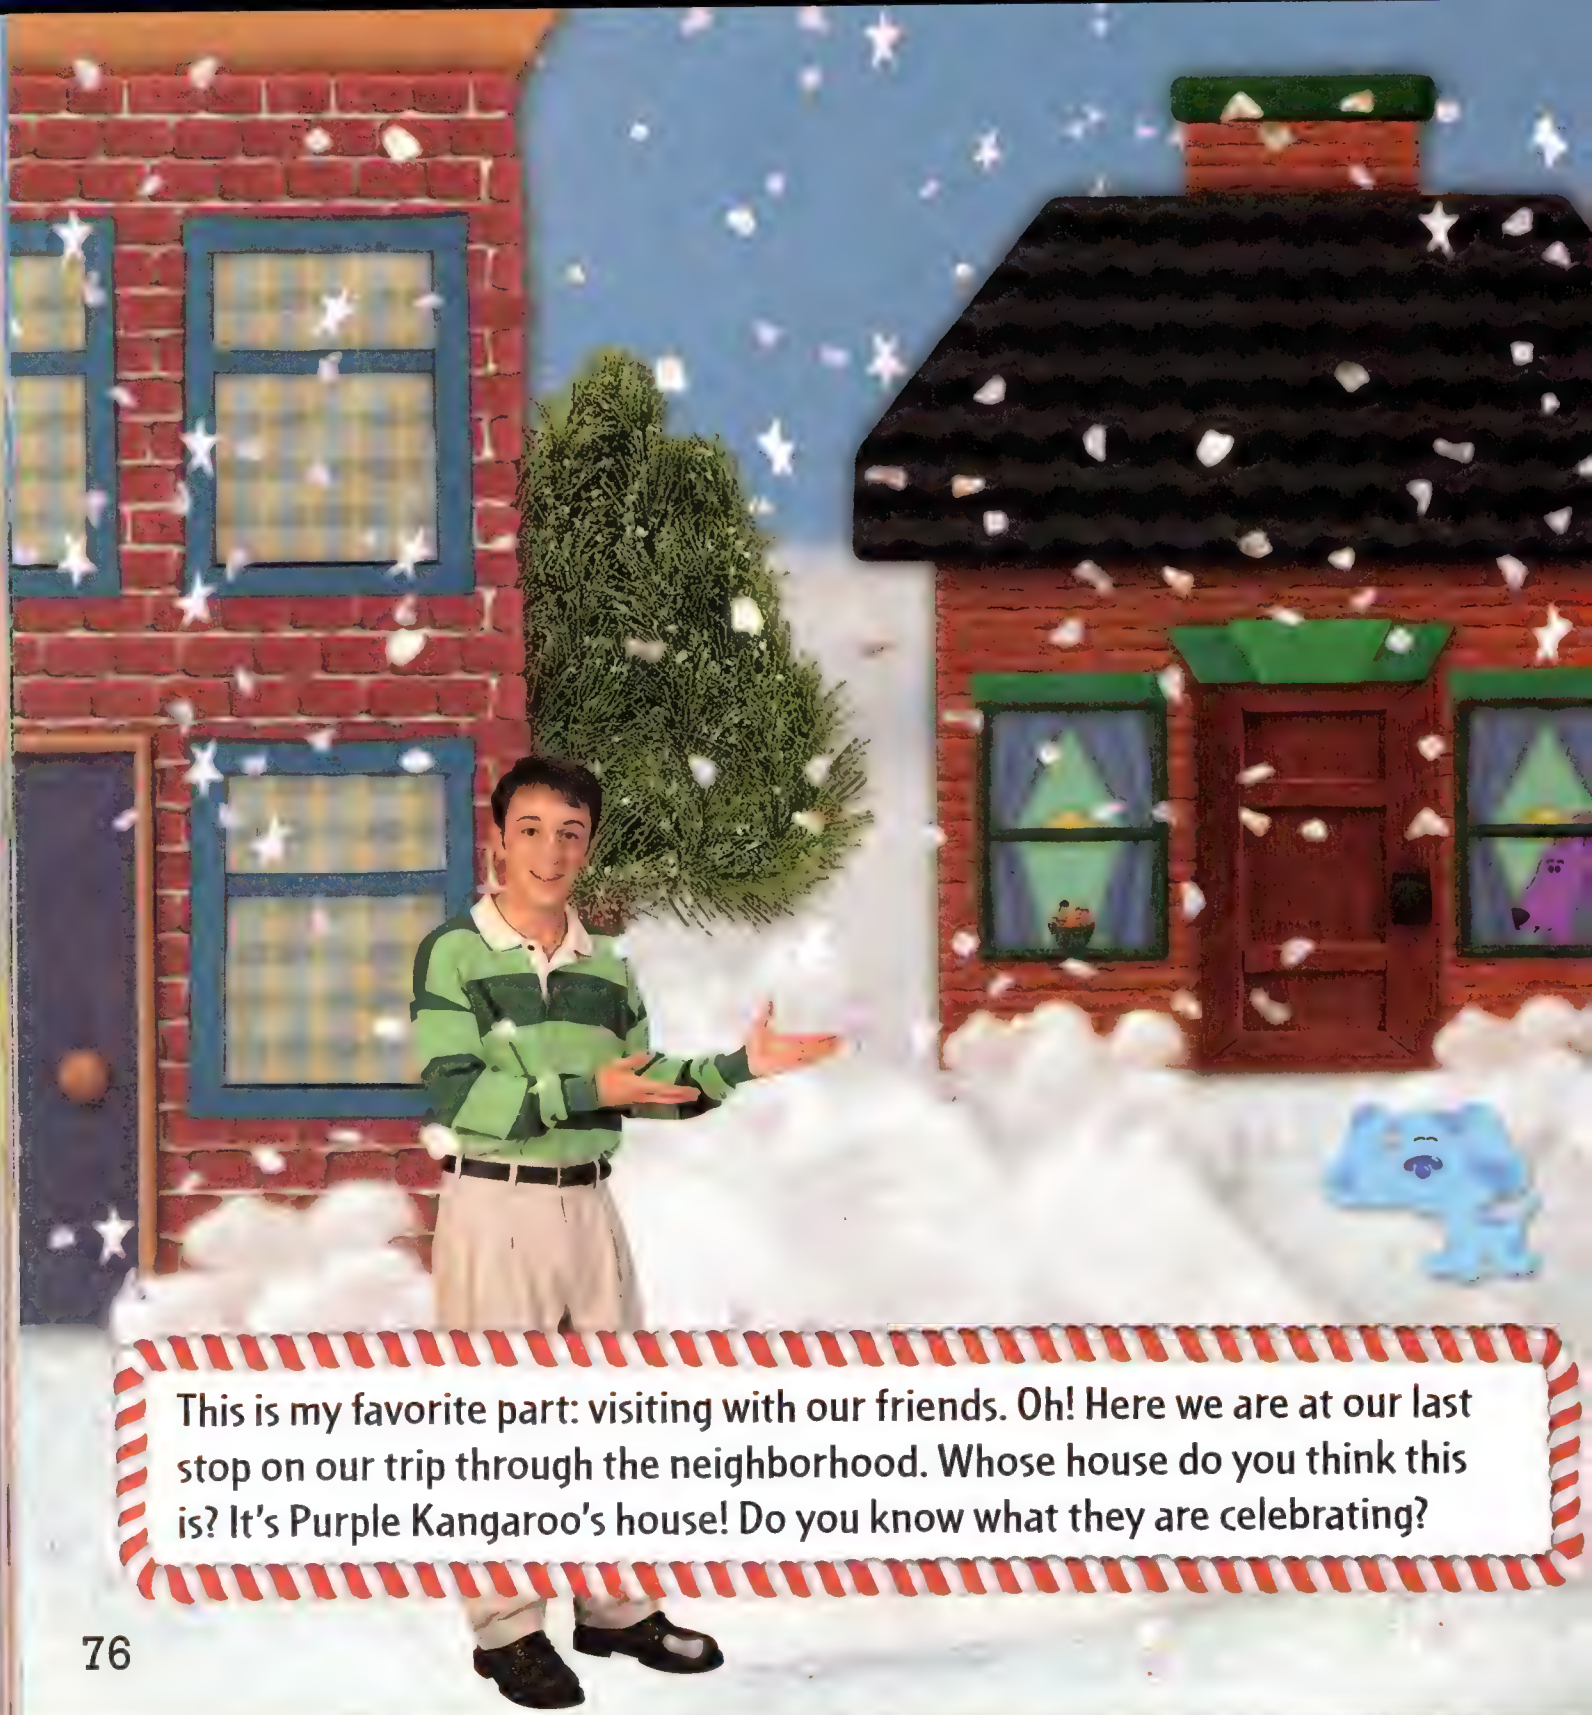
This is my favorite part of our holiday. Now we go to each of our friends' houses and give each of them a holiday present. Will you sing your favorite holiday song for us as we walk? Great.

Here we are at the first house on our stop. Do you know whose house this is? It's Green Puppy's house! I wonder what holiday they are celebrating? Do you know?

They are celebrating Christmas! Christmas is the holiday when people celebrate the miracle of birth. Hey! Do you think Green Puppy likes the present we brought her?

I'm so excited because Green Puppy said that green blocks are her favorite! Here we are at our second house. Do you know whose house this is? It's Orange Kitten's house, Blue's friend from school! Do you know what holiday they are celebrating?

They are celebrating Hanukkah! Hanukkah is the holiday when people celebrate the miracle of light. Wow, that's so nice. Oh, I almost forgot. We brought something special for Orange Kitten, too. And look, it is her favorite color!



This is my favorite part: visiting with our friends. Oh! Here we are at our last stop on our trip through the neighborhood. Whose house do you think this is? It's Purple Kangaroo's house! Do you know what they are celebrating?

They are celebrating Kwanzaa! Kwanzaa is the holiday when people celebrate being together. How cool! Let's give Purple Kangaroo the present we brought for him. Do you know what it is?

Okay, now that we are back home, it's time for us to give out our last two presents. We have a magenta-colored painter's outfit left in our bag. Who do you think that could be for?

You're right, it's for Magenta because she loves to paint. Now we have one more present left. Do you know who it is for? YOU! This book is for you from all of us at Blue's Clues. Happy Holidays!

Magenta! Magenta is here! Hey, Magenta, what is your favorite thing to do? Oh, we'll play Blue's favorite game Blue's Clues to figure out what Magenta's favorite thing to do is.
Maybe Shovel and Pail want to play too. Let's go see.

Hey . . . where is everyone?

You found everyone! Good job. Magenta, is hide-and-seek your favorite thing to do?

's not your favorite? Wait a second . . .
you find a clue? It's macaroni! Hmm. Maybe enta's favorite thing to do is in the kitchen.
look in there!

Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper are making animals out of food.

Wow! Can you figure out how they made these animals?
Hey, Magenta, is this your favorite thing to do?

What can it be? Oh, here's our second clue! It's a frame. Maybe Magenta's favorite thing to do is in the living room. Come on!

What can Magenta's favorite thing to do be? Maybe the Felt Friends have an idea.

Great costumes! Magenta, is playing dress-up your favorite thing to do?

look at all these pictures. Let's where they're coming from.

Tickety, were you taking pictures?

It was me!
Can you tell what I took pictures of?

Oh, that's what those pictures are. It looks like you got a little too close, Tickety. Magenta, is taking pictures your favorite thing to do?

No . . . oh, wait! Here's our third clue. It's glue. We have all three clues! Now where do we go?

The Thinking Chair! Now that we're in our thinking chair, let's think. The clues are macaroni, a picture frame, and glue.

Hmm . . . now do you know what Magenta's favorite thing to do is?

Making macaroni picture frames! That's Magenta's favorite thing to do. You figured out Blue's Clues. You are so smart!

At Blue's Clues we try to combine a kindergarten-readiness curriculum with our own thinking-skills curriculum. The result is seen in preschoolers who think out and solve everyday activities and problems by themselves. This book was written to show a side of Blue that has not been seen on the Blue's Clues program. Blue is trying to figure out, on her own, what to do when no one else can play with her. We hope that this book fosters self-reliance and helps children figure out what to do when they feel like there is nothing to do!

Based on the TV series Blue's Clues® created by Traci Paige Johnson, Todd Kessler, and Angela C. Santomero as seen on Nick Jr.®
On Blue's Clues, Steve is played by Steven Burns.

Blue is sad. Everyone has something to do, except Blue.
Even Steve is busy! No playing Blue's Clues till later.

Shovel and Pail are making their famous sand castle.

"Pail! Put the sand in here and then go upside down. Yay! Great, Pail!"

Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper are taking care of Paprika.
They are always taking care of Paprika!

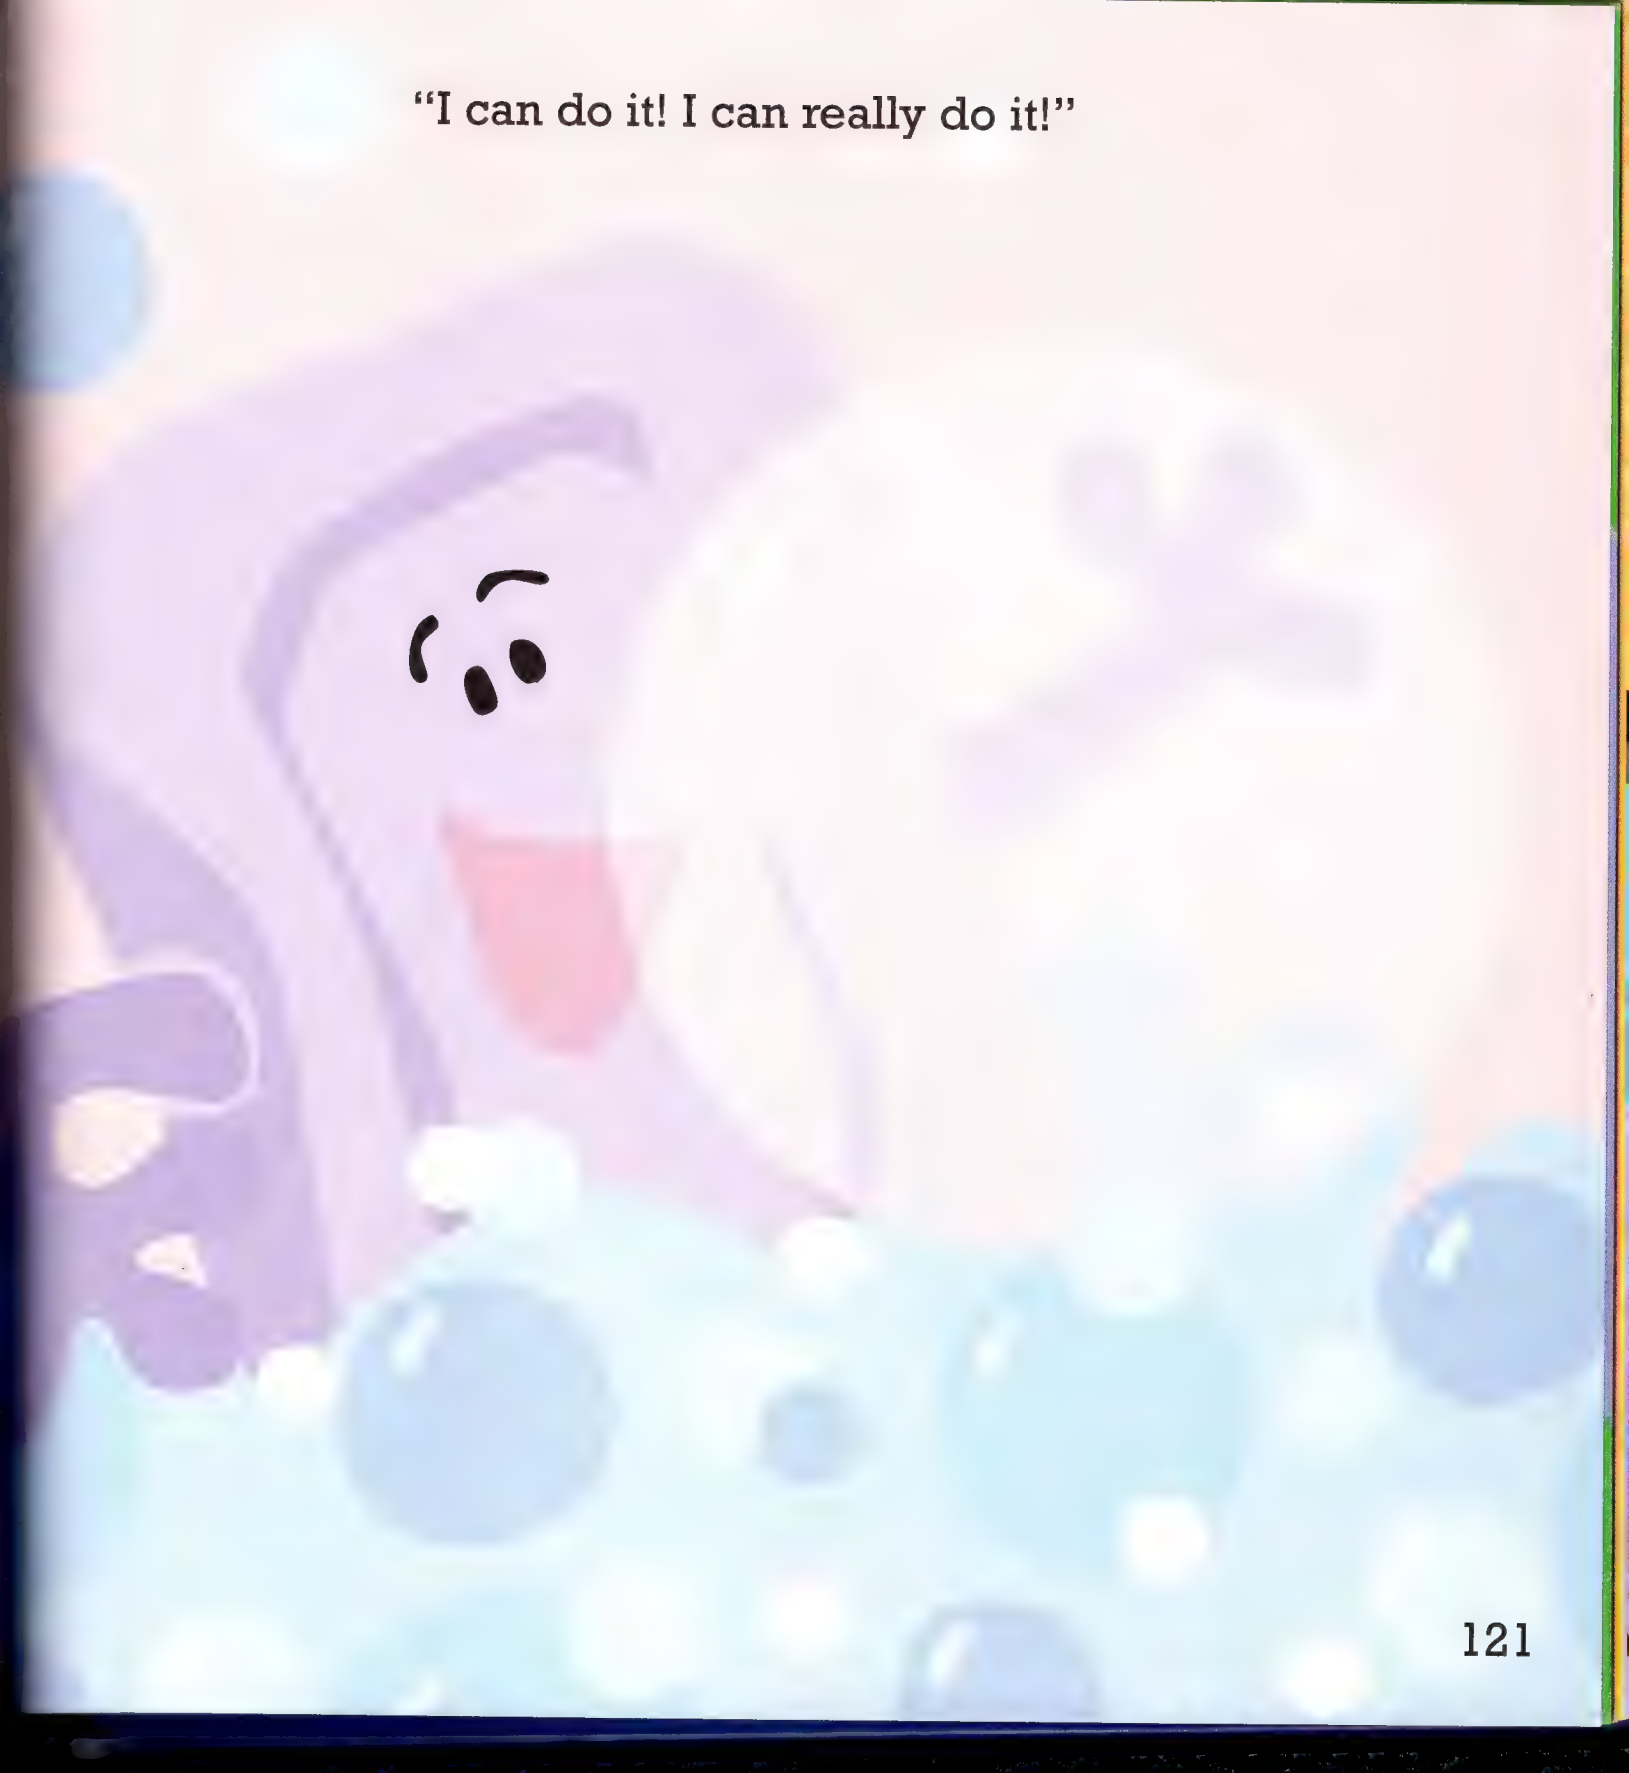
"Hooray for Paprika! Hooray for Paprika!"

Tickety Tock is practicing her numbers. She loves time.

"1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12!"

Slippery is making the biggest bubble ever.

"I can do it! I can really do it!"



Mailbox is waiting for the mail person to deliver some letters.

"Almost mailtime. I'm just waiting on the mail person and then it will be MAILTIME!"

The Felt Friends are busy too!

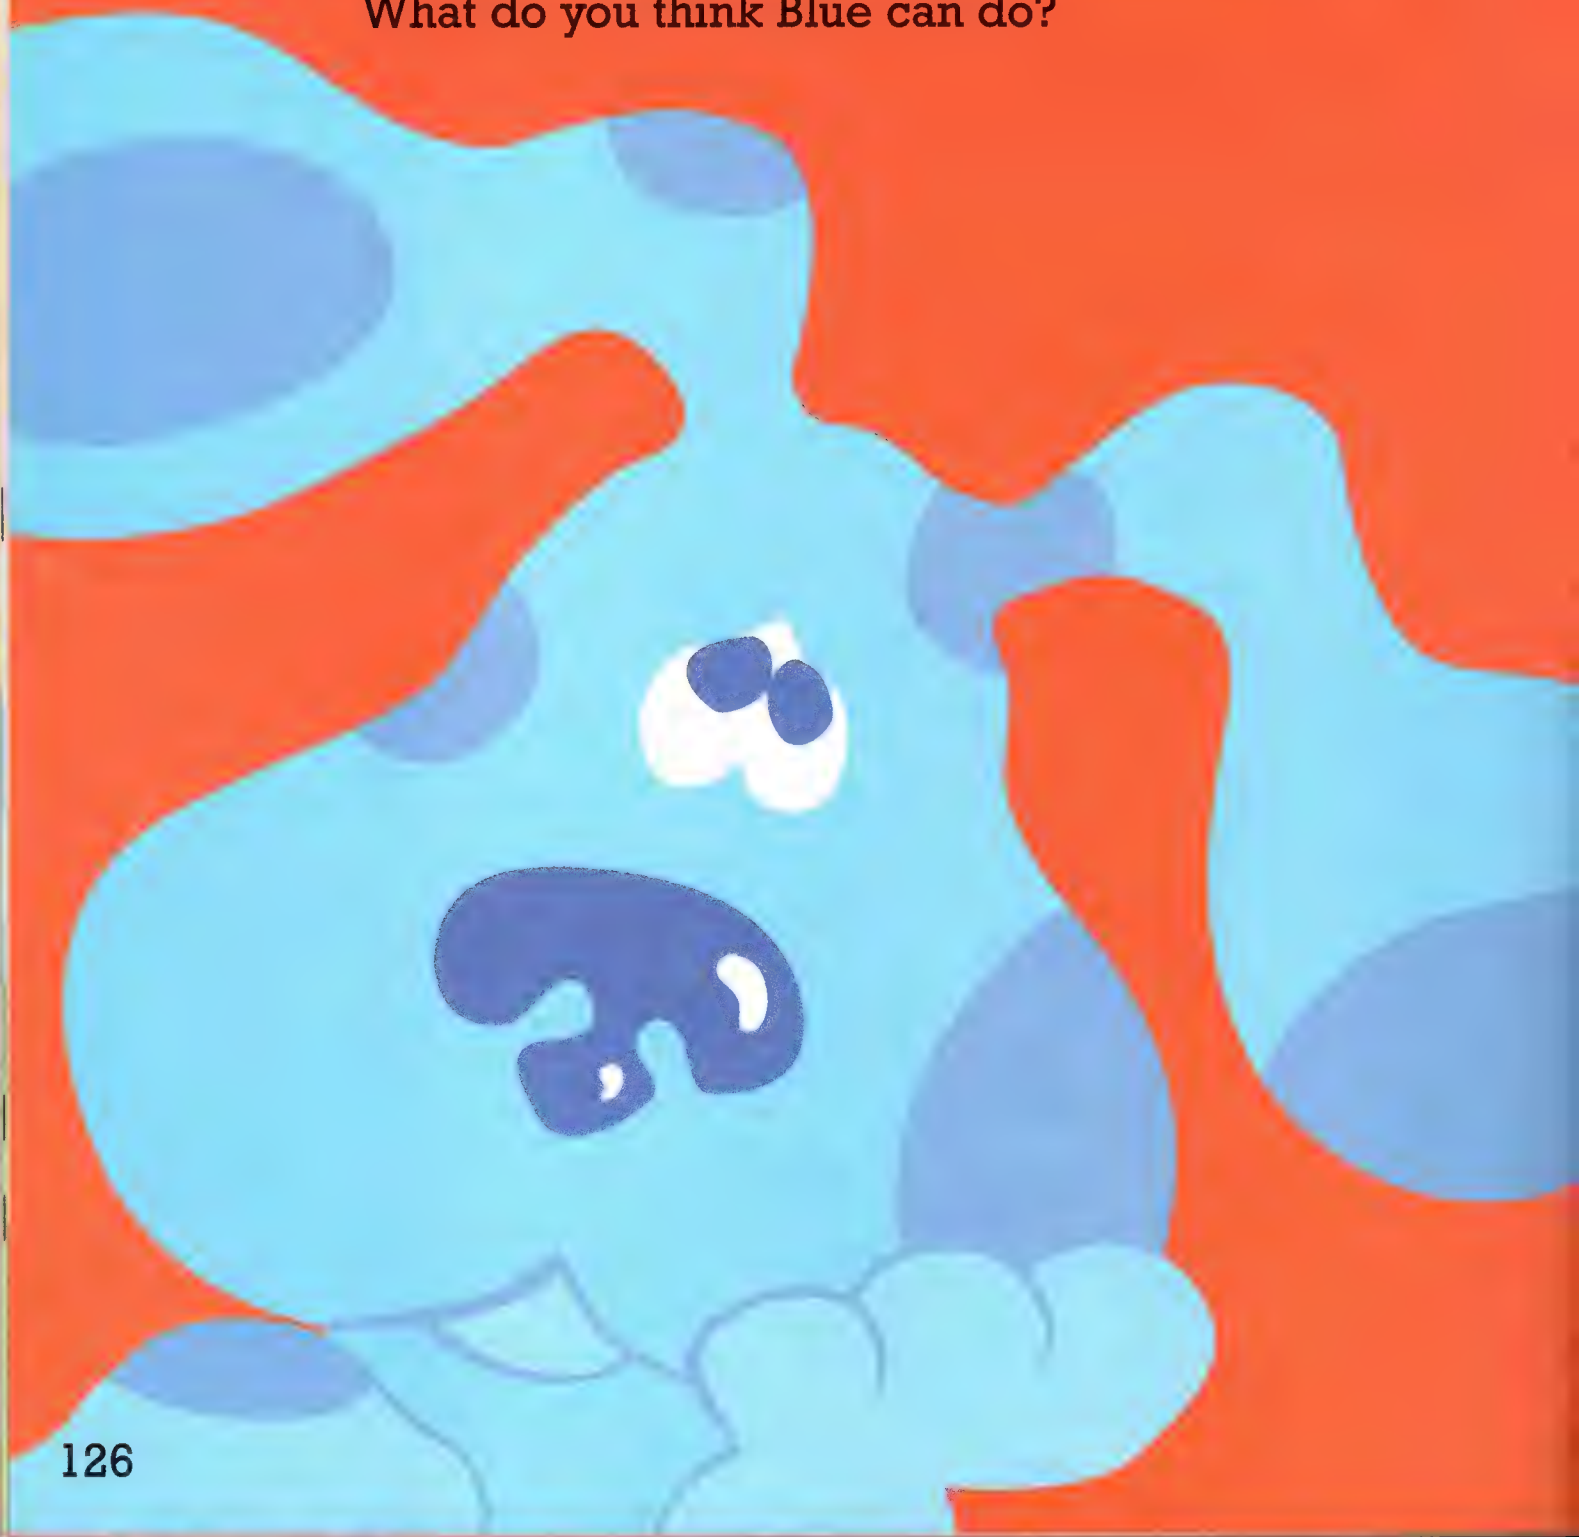
"Fred, how about you pretend to be the patient . . .
and I'll pretend to be the doctor!"

Blue still doesn't have a clue about what to do.
What do you think Blue can do?



Blue tries making sand castles.

Then she tries making bubbles.

And she even tries practicing her numbers.

But that's not what Blue wants to do. Sigh! So she starts to draw . .

and draw . . .

and draw.

Look! Blue's drawings have turned into a story! Blue's story is about a puppy—named Blue.

Soon everyone wants to hear the story Blue has drawn.

Blue tells the story to her friends—over and over and over again!

Blue did have something to do, after all.

Can you believe it? A treasure hunt–right here, right now! I'm so glad you're here because I heard you are a treasure hunt expert! You will help me, won't you? Thank you!

You know, I was wondering who set up this whole treasure hunt? Blue, do you know?

Oh, I get it, we'll play Blue's Clues to figure out who set up the treasure hunt. That's a great idea! I love Blue's Clues! Do you? Okay, you know how to play. Blue's pawprints will be on three clues. Will you help me find them? Great!

You know what? We can't leave this pawprint here. What should we do? How about if we turn the page really fast? Do you think you can do that? Ready . . . one, two, three . . . TURN THE PAGE!

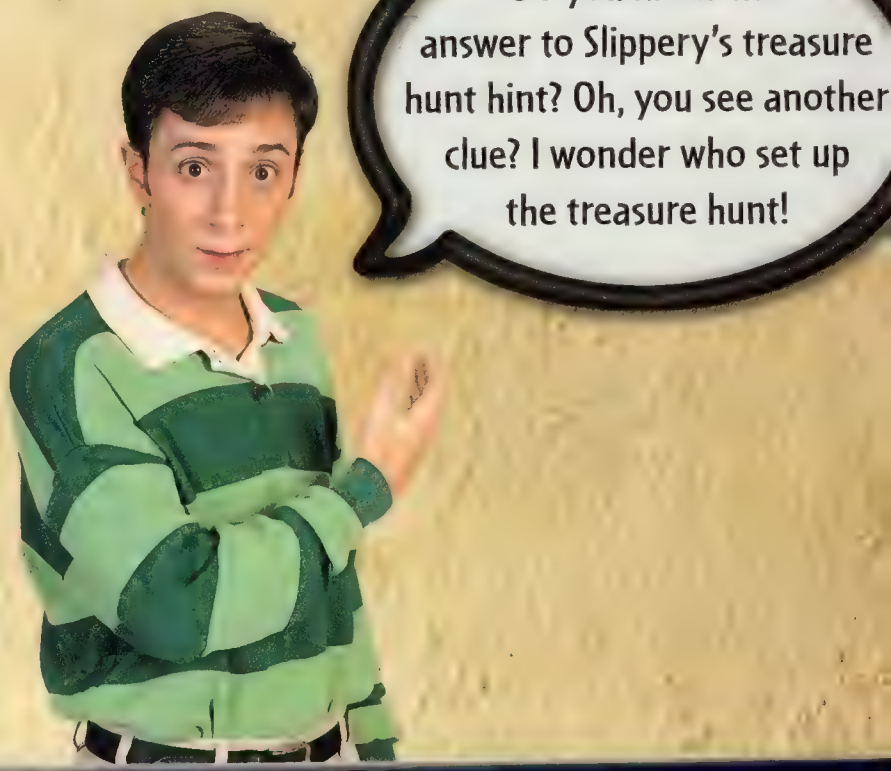
Phew! Good job with that pawprint. Hey, here's a treasure map! Do you think it will tell us where the treasure is? Let's take a look! Hmm . . . do you see where we need to go first to find our treasure?

Oh, we need to find Tickety! Maybe she knows where our treasure is!

You found me! I'm the first stop on the treasure hunt! So in order to figure out where to go next, you'll have to figure out what all my pictures have in common!

Do you know where to go next? Wait, you see a clue? I do too!

Hi, it's me, Slippery. I'm in the bathroom. You are getting closer to the treasure! All you need to do is figure out my treasure hunt hint. Here it is!



It's us, Shovel and Pail! You are so close to finding the treasure, but you need to figure out one more treasure hunt hint. Are you ready?

Find the box that holds the letters and an "X."

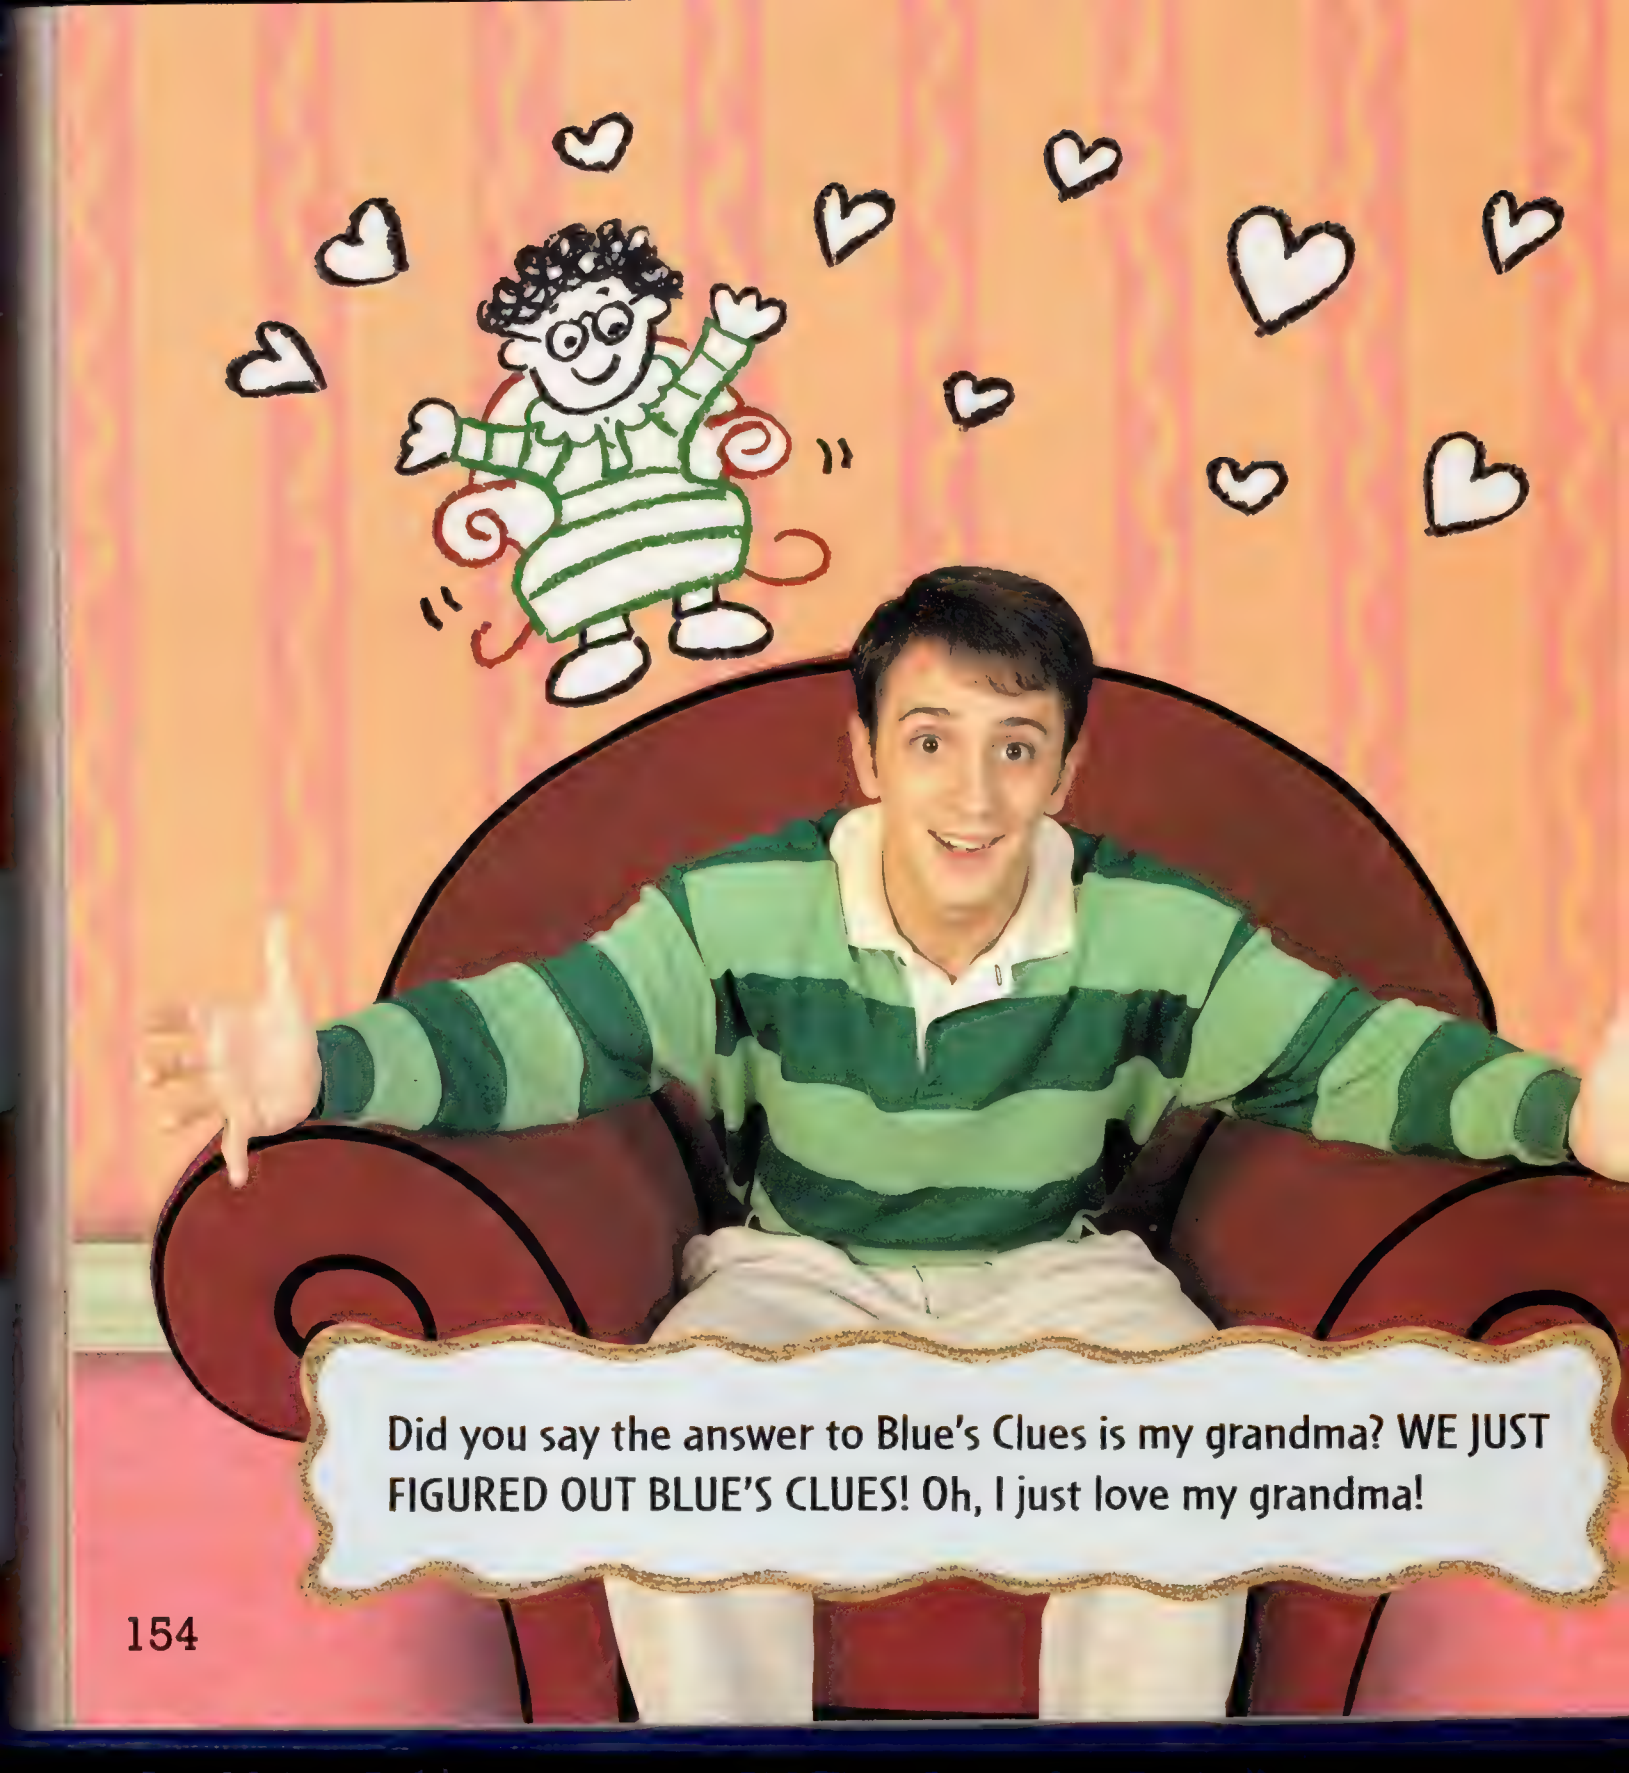
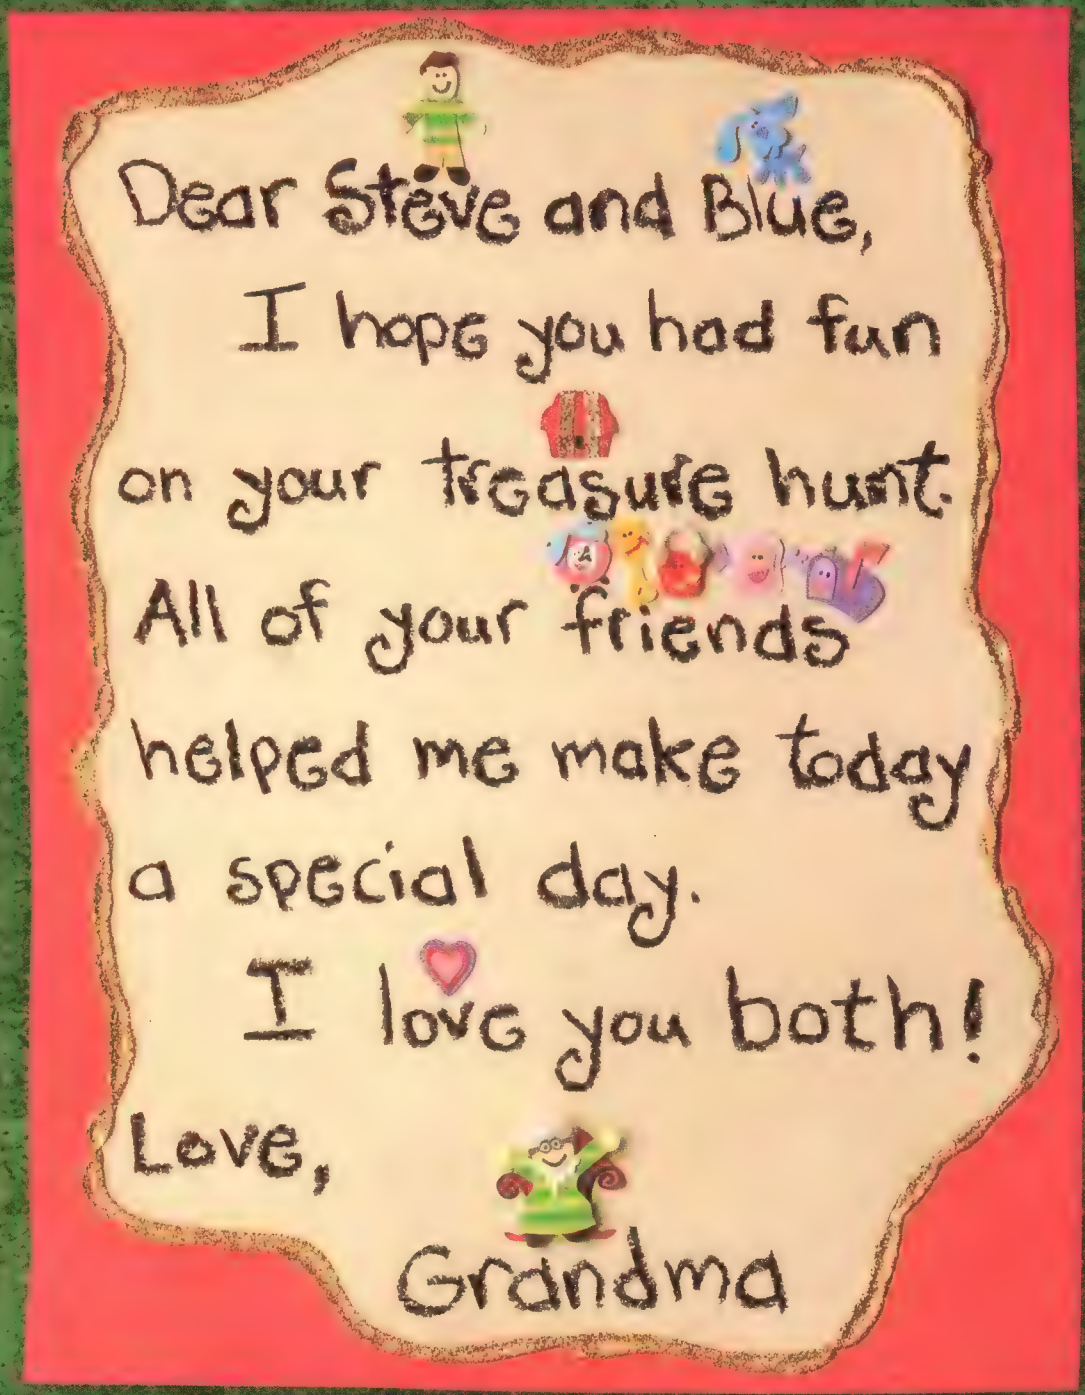
I love it when we have all three clues! Because then we get to think in our thinking chair! So do you know who set up our big treasure hunt? Who wears glasses, likes to sit in a rocking chair, and wears a green striped dress? Did you figure it out?



Did you say the answer to Blue's Clues is my grandma? WE JUST FIGURED OUT BLUE'S CLUES! Oh, I just love my grandma!

Now if we can just figure out where the treasure is. Hmm . . . it looks like we need to get to an X. Yup, X marks the spot. Do you know where we can find an X?

You are so smart! An X marks the spot, and the spot is Mailbox! Mailbox, do you have our treasure? Can you read the card from Grandma?



Dear Steve and Blue,
I hope you had fun
on your treasure hunt.
All of your friends
helped me make today
a special day.
I love you both!
Love,
Grandma

Wow, look at our treasures! I have my favorite banana chip cookies. Oh, look what Blue's treasure is—a key! A key, so you can always unlock your secret treasure.

That was fun! Thank you so much for helping with the treasure hunt. You are just so smart!

lue has a big day ahead of her. She is going to school! Blue has verything all ready. She has her backpack all packed with her mock for painting, her favorite book for reading time, and her unch that Mr. Salt and Mrs. Pepper have made.

Blue's school is so big! Look at all of the different things Blue is going to do today at school. There's the paint corner, the block corner, and the reading rug.

elcome, class!" says Mrs. Marigold, Blue's teacher. "Everyone ase put your things away in your cubbyhole and come sit down circle time!"

But Blue's not sure which cubbyhole belongs to her. They all look much alike! Can you help Blue find her cubbyhole?

Thanks for helping Blue find her cubbyhole! Now she can sit in circle time next to Magenta. Magenta and Blue have been friends for a long time. "Today," says Mrs. Marigold, "we are goin to share our favorite things in circle time."

Magenta shares her paintbrushes. Orange Kitten shares her ball. Green Puppy shares her blocks . . . that she loves to knock over. What should Blue share?

Blue wants to share a picture of her favorite game, Blue's Clues! 'Cause that's Blue's favorite thing. "Thank you for sharing," says Mrs. Marigold. "And now let's go have art time!"

hat do you think Blue will paint during art time?

you think Blue should just give up and stop painting? Or do you

s. Marigold.

Blue loves reading time. She's even brought her favorite book, "A Puppy's Day," to school today. But, look! Green Puppy is sitting in Blue's spot on the reading rug! Blue always sits right next to Magenta! What should Blue do?

ould Blue make Green Puppy move out of her favorite spot?
should Blue sit somewhere else today?

Sit somewhere else? Yeah, Blue thinks that's the best idea too! As Blue looks for a new place to sit, Purple Kangaroo calls out, "Blue! Come sit over here next to me and listen to the story."

A Puppy's Day

Once upon a time, there was a little who wanted to take a nap. But she couldn't get anyone to figure out what she wanted. So she ran around the leaving clues. The left a  on a blanket. The puppy left a  on a . And then she left a  on a . And then we figured out that it was the 's naptime! The End!

Now it's lunchtime! Blue takes out her favorite lunchbox. Inside is a picture of her Blue's Clues family! Oh, look! Blue's napkin has a note on it from . . . guess who? Uh-oh! As Blue reaches over to take a sip of her milk, she accidentally spills it all over Orange Kitten! What do you think Blue should do?

hould Blue clean up the spilled milk? Or should Blue just sit there nd be sad?

Help clean up? Good idea! Blue cleans up her spilled milk and apologizes to Orange Kitten. "That's okay, Blue," says Orange Kitten. "That happened to me yesterday, remember? Here! Do you want to share some of my milk?"

"It was so nice to learn and play with you today. Don't forget to bring all of your things home with you," says Mrs. Marigold.

Do you remember what Blue needs to bring home? Can you help her find everything?
